Academic Bulletin for Chile: 2017-18

Introduction

The Academic Bulletin is the CSU International Programs (IP) “catalog” and provides academic information about the program in Chile.

CSU IP participants must read this publication in conjunction with the two listed below.

- Academic Planning, Crediting and Reporting. This publication contains information on academic planning, how courses get credited to your degree, and the academic reporting process including when to expect your academic report at the end of your year abroad.

- Academic Policies. This publication contains academic policies which will be applied to all IP participants. Topics include but are not limited to CSU Registration, Enrollment Requirements, Minimum/Maximum Unit Load in a Semester, Attendance, Examinations, Assignment of Grades, Grading Symbols, Credit/No Credit Option and Course Withdrawals.

To access the above publications, go to our website here and click on the year that pertains to your year abroad. For general information about the Chile Program, refer to the CSU IP website under “Programs”.

Academic Program Information

CSU IP in Chile is affiliated with Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile (PUC), known in English as the Pontifical Catholic University, located in Santiago.

All students, regardless of the curriculum they are following, are required to take:

- a three-week Preparatory Language Program (PLP) in the summer
- the equivalent of 14 or 15 CSU units in the Fall semester;
- the equivalent of 15 CSU units in the Spring semester;
- a seminar course on Chilean culture in the Fall semester; and
- one advanced Spanish language course each semester.

Below is an example of the academic schedule for the year in Chile:

Minimum number of units required for Spring: 15

For the elective courses, students will be expected to select courses in academic subjects for their major, minor or general education requirements.

If they wish, students can select one recreation/sport class each semester and earn one CSU unit for each course. This will count towards the minimum unit CSU requirement.

Course Codes and Levels

At PUC, course codes (SIGLA) are made up of three letters and a combination of three or four digits, with some codes followed by a letter, for example LET123H, or ILI1730. The letters indicate the subject area or department. Graduate level course are numbered 3000, 4000 or 5000. All other courses will be undergraduate courses, which can have either three or four numbers, which follow the three letter department code. The PUC bachelor's degree (Licenciatura) consists of four years of study in which students take courses in their major and in areas different from their core program (i.e., general education program). The first year of study consists of foundation and introductory courses, or basic science in the case of engineering, math, physics, or computer science majors. Each subsequent year (or level) is more difficult and builds upon the knowledge acquired in the previous year. For CSU crediting purposes, first year courses are generally considered lower division courses (depending on course content). Second and third year courses (levels 2 and 3) are more advanced and considered upper division courses with some exceptions. Fourth year courses (level 4) are considered advanced upper division in which graduate credit may be given, depending on the course. Generally, most CSU students who have taken several lower division courses in their major will take second or third year courses as these will usually be the ones that are the most compatible with upper division coursework at the students' home campuses.

Unit Conversion Guidelines

Below are the guidelines which are used to convert PUC credits to CSU semester units.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>PUC Credits</th>
<th>CSU Semester Units</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8 or 10</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

For CSU students attending a quarter-based campus: To convert the value of CSU semester units into CSU quarter units, multiply the CSU semester units by 1.5.

Note that the above guidelines apply to academic courses taken at PUC (e.g., Humanities, Sciences, Social or Applied Sciences) and does not apply to any recreation classes.

Academic Culture

At PUC most professors conduct lectures and there is little interaction between student and professor. Although professors do have office hours, they use this time for planning, so it is advisable to speak to them after class or be in touch through e-mail. Most professors have “ayudantes,” students who assist them. They can be very helpful and it is advisable to build relationships with the professors and their assistants.

It is extremely important to attend class and to be punctual. It is not uncommon that deadlines of student essays or dates of tests change during the semester. For this reason, it is critical to attend all classes and to reconfirm exam dates and deadline dates of assignments with the professor.

University Courses

The following courses are required for all IP participants:

Spanish Communication (2)

Provides a solid review and expansion of grammar and vocabulary within a task-oriented methodology. Production of oral and written tests is connected to the discussion of background information of current events and topics of public interest. Upper division. This is a required course in July for all students. (PUC course code: LET092P)

Chilean Culture (3)

A two-month intensive course specifically designed to meet the needs of visiting international students. Topics include: Chilean history from the 19th century to the present; traditional and contemporary rural society; economic development; women and literature; democratic consolidation—a Southern Cone perspective; Chilean Nobel literature—Neruda and Mistral; urban development and environmental problems. This is a required course for all students in the fall semester. Upper division. (PUC course code: IHI2370)

Spanish Language (3)

Each semester, students are required to take one advanced Spanish language course from the Spanish Language for Foreign Students Program. Students take a placement exam and are placed in one of four levels of courses offered: Intermediate Spanish, Advanced Spanish, Superior Spanish and Perfecting Writing in Spanish. The first three levels focus on all areas of the Spanish language including writing, oral expression, and reading comprehension. The Perfecting Writing in Spanish course concentrates on writing/composition. In addition to studying the Spanish language, attention is given to intercultural issues such as the analysis of the culturally based communication styles and practices particular to certain social domains. Courses often include interactive activities with the local community and cultural visits.
Intermediate Spanish
This is an intermediate-advanced level semester course that covers topics of grammar, vocabulary and Chilean culture and which provides tools for the acquisition, practice and correction of structures and vocabulary that students need to be able to communicate in academic and everyday contexts. At the same time, it gives emphasis on oral and written expression as well as on listening comprehension in exhibition and debate formats. Prerequisite: Minimum of four semesters of Spanish language. Upper Division. (PUC course code: LET085P)

Advanced Spanish
This course is oriented to the acquisition of lexical resources and improvement of the grammatical use for social and academic interaction in immersion. It will cover grammar, vocabulary and Chilean culture that reinforce the linguistic correction, the conceptual precision and the discursive creativity of the student. The course will provide opportunities for students to correct, practice and gain confidence in the management of structures and vocabulary both orally and in writing essays. Upper division. (PUC course code: LET086P)

Superior Spanish
This course will cover grammar, vocabulary and Chilean culture topics that reinforce the linguistic correctness, conceptual precision and the student's discursive creativity in the use of cult formal Spanish. Therefore, opportunities will be offered for students to correct, practice and acquire confidence in the management of structures and vocabulary corresponding to a higher level of knowledge of the language. Upper division. (PUC course code: LET087P)

Perfecting Writing in Spanish
This training course is aimed at students who demonstrate an advanced level in Spanish skills; both in the knowledge and use of more complex grammatical structures, as well as in the adequate handling of vocabulary and stylistic resources. The main objective of the course is to achieve a better written performance through the study and acquisition of resources, typologies and skills that help a good lexical, structural and contextual discrimination according to the communicative competence. Upper division. (PUC course code: LET089P)

Students are advised to consult the PUC's website for specific course offerings. The webpage for the University is www.uc.cl.

To view departments offered at PUC, go to http://admisionyregistros.uc.cl/alumnos/cursos/programacion-de-cursos-2. Click in “catalogo de cursos” and then in “escuela” scroll down and click in the department you are interested in (you do not need to fill the other information requested). Then click “buscar” and you will find a list with all courses that the school offers. If you click on “programa” you will find the complete syllabus of the course.

Admission to courses is subject to availability, approval of the host university and the particular department’s prerequisites. Just as is the case with any CSU catalog, not all of the courses are offered every semester so students should be flexible with their selection of courses.

Admission to the School of Music is restricted and requires confirmation by the Music Department at PUC. Music students are required to send a study plan to PUC in advance and if requested, they may be required to send an audition (by CD or YouTube). PUC will inform students if an audition is necessary based on the study plan submitted. Music theory courses are more easily accessible but are still subject to availability.

While CSU IP students primarily focus on taking coursework related to their majors, PUC provides the opportunity for students to take courses which may be of special interest to those interested in incorporating Latin American Studies or advanced Spanish language courses into their overall education. Courses include:
