

IP Academic Bulletin for Granada, Spain: 2015-16

Introduction

The IP Academic Bulletin (also known as "IP Bulletin" or "Bulletin") is the International Programs (IP) "catalog" and provides academic information about the program in Granada, Spain.

The Bulletin must read in conjunction with the two publications listed below.

- Academic Planning, Crediting and Reporting. This publication contains information on academic planning, how courses get credited to your degree, and the academic reporting process including when to expect your academic report at the end of your year abroad.
- Academic Policies. This publication contains academic policies which will be applied to all IP participants. Topics include but are not limited to CSU Registration, Enrollment Requirements, Attendance, Examinations, Assignment of Grades, Grading Symbols, Credit/No Credit Option and Course Withdrawals.

To access the above publications, refer to the IP website under "Study Abroad", and "Academic Program Information" or click on either of the document names above which are linked to our website.

To access general information about your program and study center, refer to the IP website under "Programs" and click on the specific program to which you have been accepted.

The Academic Program

The International Programs is affiliated with the Universidad de Granada. IP students are enrolled in a special division of the University for foreign students, the Centro de Lenguas Modernas (known as Centro or CLM). The CLM website is <http://www.clm-granada.com/>.

Courses are at the undergraduate level and focus on the Language, Literature, History, Geography, Economics, Politics, and Culture of Spain. All students are required to take at least one regular Universidad de Granada course throughout the year, but no more than two courses per semester, from the regular offerings of the Facultad de Filosofía y Letras also known as Facultad.

Graduate students are advised to work with their advisor to select the courses that best fit their academic needs. In general, Facultad courses will be more likely to match the needs and level for graduate students.

During the academic year, students take courses in four distinctive sessions: a) Preparatory Language Program (PLP) in September, b) Fall Semester, c) January Session, and d) Spring Semester. The PLP is considered part of the summer session, and the January Session is considered part of the Fall Semester.

Below is an example of the academic schedule for the year in Granada, Spain:

Preparatory Language Program (September)	Units
Spanish Language and Culture	4
Fall Semester (early October to late December)
3 CLM courses	9
1 Facultad course (or 4th CLM course)	3
1 CLM course in January Session	3
Minimum number of units required for Fall:	15
Spring Semester (early February to late May)
4 CLM courses	12
1 Facultad course* (or 5th CLM course)	3
Minimum number of units required for Spring:	15

*In the Spring Semester Facultad courses do not finish until the late June or mid-July. Students enrolling in those courses must not plan their departure until after that time.

Preparatory Language Program (PLP): Centro

All IP students participating in the program in Granada begin their year by attending the Preparatory Language Program (PLP) which takes place in September. This course is reported as part of the Summer Term. All students must take a placement test in Granada prior to the PLP to measure their language proficiency. According to this placement test students will be placed on different tracks of the same course.

SLL 100 Spanish Language and Culture (4)

Intensive instruction in grammar, composition and conversation (placement determined by examination), and an introduction to Spanish culture, history, customs, politics and society. Upper division.

Academic Year Courses: Centro

The University of Granada's Centro de Lenguas Modernas offers two programs for international students:

- Lengua y Cultura Españolas* program (Spanish Language and Culture Program)
- Estudios Hispánicos* program (Hispanic Studies Program)

The PLP placement test (mentioned above) is also used in the fall semester to place students in either the Lengua y Cultura Españolas program or the Estudios Hispánicos program. For test level information and other information, refer to their website at http://www.clm-granada.com/html/c_espanol/ing/ceh/ceh_info.htm.

Curso de Estudios Hispánicos (CEH)

To be placed in CEH, students must already have a high level of Spanish and pass B2.1, CLM-6 Advanced. Students with near-native fluency in spoken and written Spanish may be placed in this program if they do well on the placement test.

- Students placed in the CEH program in the fall must enroll in SLL 101A Speaking and Writing Skills I, except those testing into the highest PLP level (Level 9).
- In addition students take 3 or 4 courses in the program, plus one course in the January session.
- CEH* students take one Facultad course in the spring semester and may consider taking one Facultad course in the fall semester.

Curso de Lengua y Cultura Españolas (CLCE)

Students placed in CLCE program in the fall must enroll in SLL 101A, SLL102, and two other courses offered in the program, plus one course in the January session. Courses in this program are taught at an intermediate level of Spanish. CLCE students are not advised to take Facultad courses in the fall semester.

- Students who successfully complete Curso de CLCE program in the fall can enroll in Estudios Hispánicos courses in the spring semester.
- In the spring semester students take SLL 101B, three other CLM courses and one Facultad course.

Please take into consideration that some of the following courses are offered both semesters; some are offered only in the fall, or in the spring. All courses are at the upper division level, and are three units each as indicated in parenthesis.

Academic Year Courses: Facultad

All students are required to take at least one course outside of the Centro de Lenguas Modernas during the year. The courses available to CSU students at the Universidad de Granada are those offered by the Facultad de Filosofía y Letras. Only students with advanced fluency should plan on taking a Facultad course in the Fall Semester.

Note the following:

Some course syllabi from the Facultad de Filosofía y Letras are available in Spanish on their website: <http://filosofiayletras.ugr.es/pages/docencia/grados>

The following are courses that have been taken by CSU students in previous years. This list is only a subset of what is offered. Information and offerings can change from year to year. Students planning to take specific courses should prepare a list of several acceptable courses in collaboration with a home campus advisor to avoid scheduling conflicts and other contingencies.

Most Facultad courses are upper-division, although some may be lower-division, depending on course content, e.g. first year introductory courses, music courses and language courses.

All Facultad courses are 3 or 4 units depending on class meeting days per week. The term "ECTS créditos" that appears at these sites should not be confused with the units that are granted by the CSU IP.
